

Pay Attention, It Could Save Your Life!

播出時間：2020 /6 /10

星期三 中午 12：00

英文小達人：804 朱麒麟

編輯老師：陳思恩老師

各位老師，各位同學，大家午安，我是 804 朱麒麟，
我是今天的英文小達人，今天，我要為大家播報的內容，
是 Pay Attention, It Could Save Your Life!

On Tuesday April 17th, a Southwest Airlines flight was on its way to Dallas from New York. Suddenly, the left engine of the plane exploded. A piece of the engine struck a passenger window on the plane and broke it. The broken window caused the inside of the airplane to lose pressure. Whenever this happens, oxygen masks drop down and the passenger must put it on to cover their mouth and nose.

The pilot had to make an emergency landing. People started to post photos, videos and last messages for loved ones on social media. One thing people noticed was that almost everyone was wearing their oxygen masks incorrectly. They were wearing it just over the mouth and holding it with one hand. At the beginning of every flight, the flight attendants go over what to do in case of an emergency. The problem is, people are not paying attention. Many are looking at their smartphones, others are busy taking selfies and some are already sleeping. It's easy to think "that will never happen to ME" , but you'd be wrong. Accidents and situations such as this one are unpredictable and can happen to anyone.

Thanks for your listening. See you next time!